LAWS OF THE COLLEGE:

CHAPTER I.

OF THE OFFICERS OF COLLEGE GENERALLY.

1. THE officers of college are the president, vice-president, professors and tutors.

2. They are responsible to the trustees for the full execution of the laws of the institution, and for the suitable and faithful instruction of the students.

3. They are not to engage in any pursuit or occupation that will interfere with a stated and punctual discharge of all their official duties, without the consent of the board of trustees.

4. It is the duty of every officer individually, to use his utmost vigilance and exertions to carry into complete effect every law of the college without exception. As he is clothed with sufficient authority to make himself and the laws respected, he is never to suffer any violation of a law known to him, to pass without its due reprehension or punishment.

5. An exemplary regard to moral and religious duties is indispensable in every officer of the college.

6. At the beginning of each session, and as much oftener as to the president may seem expedient, there shall be a meeting of the officers of college, in which shall be assigned to each his part, in the instruction of the college, which shall be registered in the book of the faculty. Provided, however, that nothing more shall be assigned to the president than he shall voluntarily accept; and that the professors severally shall always have the branches of science which they profess included in their parts of the distribution. The frequency with which each class shall recite shall be determined at these meetings.

7. All the officers of the college have the right to enter the rooms and studies of the students at their pleasure, and it is their duty frequently to visit them.

CHAPTER II.

OF THE PRESIDENT.

1. To the president is committed the general superintendence of the interests and reputation of the institution, which he is bound to promote and maintain by every exertion in his power.

2. He has a right to be present at the recitation of any class in the college, as often as he may see proper, and to conduct or hear the recitation, if he choose.

3. He will take such branches of instruction in the college, into his own hands, as he may judge that the number of other teachers in the institution and his own convenience render necessary and proper.

4. He is to see that prayers are made with the students morning and evening, and that public worship be celebrated with them on the Lord's Day : And he is also to give to the students a course of instruction on the evidences, principles and duties of the christian religion.

5. He is, ex-officio, president of the faculty, when present with them, and also the administrator of their decisions in cases of discipline.

6. He is to preside at examinations and commencements, and to confer all degrees.

CHAPTER III.

OF THE VICE-PRESIDENT.

1. The vice-president is to conduct the studies of the youth in those branches of literature or science of which he is the professor.

2. He is to convene and preside in the faculty, in the absence of the president.

CHAPTER IV.

1. The professors shall be responsible for the faithful instruction of the students in those departments of science and literature which they shall severally profess.

2. In the absence of the president and vice-president, the senior professor present shall convene and preside in the faculty. Seniority to be determined by the date of their appointment, unless the trustees may otherwise direct.

3. The professors shall severally be responsible for the preservation of the apparatus and specimens belonging to their respective departments.

CHAPTER V.

OF THE TUTORS.

1. The duty of the tutors in the instruction of the college is to assist the professors in teaching the Sophomore and Freshman classes, and to perform such other service as may be assigned them agreeably to chap. 1st. art. 6th.

2. The tutors must live in the college edifice, unless prevented by sickness.

3. To the tutors is specially committed the preservation of order and decorum in the college edifice.

4. The tutors shall ordinarily visit the rooms of the students thrice a day, viz: once in the study hours of the forenoon, once in those of the afternoon, and once after the ringing of the evening bell; and they shall carefully note delinquent students, that they may be dealt with as the faculty shall determine.

5. The tutors are to attend the meals of the students, to ask a blessing and return thanks at the dinner table, and to see that the youth conduct themselves with propriety, during the whole time that they are in the dining room.

CHAPTER VI.

OF THE FACULTY OF THE COLLEGE.

1. The faculty of the college shall consist of all persons concerned in the instruction and government of it, except such as may be specially excepted by the board of trustees.

2. A majority of the members of the faculty shall, when convened after due notice, constitute a quorum.

3. Every matter brought before the faculty shall be decided by vote ; and it shall be the privilege of the president of the college, when present, to vote in all cases that come before the faculty, and also to give a casting vote when otherwise there would be a tie.

4. The faculty shall keep a book of records or minutes, and appoint a clerk who shall enter therein a fair statement of their transactions, resolutions and determinations ; which book the clerk shall lay before the trustees, at each of their stated meetings—The clerk of the faculty shall be allowed a compensation for his services.

5. No act of the faculty, which is not recorded by their order shall be considered as valid.

CHAPTER VII.

OF THE INSPECTOR, AND OF DAMAGES DONE TO THE COLLEGE.

1. A person shall be appointed to inspect the college and see that the rooms and entries be kept in good repair, for which he shall receive such salary as the trustees shall from time to time appoint—This office may be connected with that of tutor or professor.

2. The inspector shall visit all the apartments of the college once a month, to see if any waste has been made, and shall cause it immediately to be repaired. If the waste has happened in any private apartment, and by the fault of him or them who occupy it, and in all cases where the damage could not be done by a person from without the apartment, the inspector shall charge double for the repairs which he shall cause to be made, and in like manner for damages made in the uninhabited apartments of the college, when the party or parties who have offended can be discovered ; but when such discovery cannot be made, the inspector shall levy the expense of repairs equally on all the students, and it shall be paid before the end of the session in which it has taken place.

3. The inspector shall keep an account of the repairs which have been made, and of the expenses incurred in consequence of them, and of the money he has received for damages from the students ; which he shall lay before the trustees at every stated meeting of the board, that a regular settlement may be made.

4. Every student shall pay to the treasurer such sum as the trustees may order, at the commencement of each session, to constitute a fund in advance, for such general repairs of the college as are not chargeable to any individual.

5. The inspector shall constantly keep by him such materials as are necessary for the repairs of the college.

CHAPTER VIII.

OF THE LIBRARIAN AND LIBRARY.

1. The faculty shall appoint a librarian, who shall execute the duties of his office agreeably to the direction of the faculty, in all matters which are not provided for by the rules established by the trustees.

2. Every student shall at the commencement of each session, pay to the treasurer one dollar for the use and increase of the library.

3. The librarian shall attend at the library one day in the week, at noon, during the session, to give out books to all who have a right to apply. He shall enter the names of the persons in a book kept for that purpose, with the number and condition of the volume, by which entry he shall compare it when returned.

4. He shall keep another book for the purpose of recording all additions made to the library, with the date of their reception, and if they are presents, the name and place of abode of the donor ; and these books shall be immediately entered in the catalogue.

5. No student or other person except members of the faculty, shall be allowed to take out of the library at one time more than one folio, two quartos, or two octavos, or smaller volumes, which shall be returned before they shall have liberty to take out any other books.

6. The librarian shall permit no student to keep a book longer than two weeks. Every person who receives a book from the library shall be answerable for the injury done to it while in his possession; if lost, defaced or torn, he shall pay a sum proportionable to the damage incurred, or replace it at the discretion of the faculty.

7. Any person, except a member of the faculty, who shall keep a book longer than two weeks, shall be fined twelve and a half cents, and at the same rate for a longer time.

8. No person on whom a fine shall have been imposed, shall be allowed to take a book from the library, till the fine be paid.

9. The members of the faculty may retain, in their keeping, books of science belonging to the branches which they teach, as long as to the librarian it shall appear that the general interest of the institution will permit; provided that this time does not extend beyond that session of the college during which the books shall be taken out of the library.

10. No person, not immediately connected with the college, shall be permitted to take a book from the library, without depositing with the librarian the value of the whole set, which shall be forfeited immediately after the expiration of the time above specified, if the book be not returned.

11. No book shall be permitted to be carried more than a mile from the college.

12. If the trustees or officers of the college, on any occasion, shall desire to consult a book in the library without taking it from the room, it shall be the duty of the librarian to attend them for that purpose.

13. No books shall be taken from the library during the regular vacations of the college.

OF PUNISHMENTS.

1. The punishments of the institution, being wholly of the moral kind and addressed to the sense of duty and the principles of honor and shame, are the following : Private admonition or reprehension of a student by an officer of the college ;

admonition before the faculty of the college or concessions there; formal admonition before the class of the offender, or in the presence of a select number of persons of any description, with acknowledgments of the fault and engagements of amendment; public admonition and reprehension in the presence of all the students, with a public confession and profession of penitence; if the circumstances of the case require it, suspension from the privileges of the college for a limited time; putting the party on a state of probation, so that on the next offence he shall be wholly dismissed; dismissing from the house, and ordering the student to leave the college immediately, but without a public expulsion; public and formal expulsion.

2. In all the laws where the penalty is not specified, the selection and application of any of these punishments shall be by a vote of the faculty, except the first, which any officer may apply as he shall judge necessary, and expulsion, which shall be subject to the regulation afterwards provided. The faculty, moreover, are to judge of the circumstances of the offence, and to consider whether they extenuate or aggravate its nature, and proportion the penalty accordingly—The repetition of offences shall always be considered as an aggravating circumstance.

3. The punishment of expulsion shall be sanctioned by at least six trustees, met for that purpose, before it shall be finally inflicted; but in the mean time the faculty may dismiss or suspend the offending party, and exclude him from all connexion with the college.

4. If any student shall refuse to remove out of the college on being dismissed or suspended by the faculty, the faculty are authorized to cause him to be immediately removed, and if necessary, to call in aid the civil authority; and they are also authorized to cause an extract of their minutes respecting him to be published in the newspapers, and such student shall never afterwards be re-admitted to the college.

CHAPTER X.

OF ADMISSION INTO THE COLLEGE.

1. No person shall be admitted into college but by a vote of the faculty taken for that purpose, after his examination.

2. No student shall be admitted into the Freshman or lowest class in this college, unless he be master of Cæsar's Commentary, (five books,) Salust, Virgil, (Eclogues and six books of the Æneid) Cicero's select Orations contained in the volume in usum Delphini, Mair's Introduction to Latin Syntax, the Gospels in the Greek Testament, Dalzel's Collectanea Græca Minora or Jacob's Greek Reader or other authors equivalent in quantity, together with Latin and Greek Grammar including Latin Prosody—and unless, also, he be well acquainted with Arithmetic, English Grammar, and Geography.

No student shall be admitted to an advanced standing unless he be found on examination, to be equal to the class for which he shall be a candidate.

3. No person shall be admitted into this college, under any pretence whatsoever, who may have studied at any other college or university, without producing a certificate from the president or faculty of such college or university, that he has left it without censure.

4. No student shall so enter the college as to pay less for entrance, tuition and room-rent, than if he had entered the junior class at the beginning, and no student shall be admitted into college more advanced than the beginning of the senior year.

5. Every person, before he is admitted to an actual standing in any class, shall obtain from the treasurer of the college a receipt or certificate, by which it shall appear that he has complied with the existing orders of the trustees in regard to expense; which certificate or receipt he shall produce to that officer of the college who has at that time the instruction of the class into which he desires to enter; and if any officer admit a student to the recitations of his class, without such receipt or certificate, such officer shall be responsible to the treasurer for the expenses of such student; and this rule shall also be observed in regard to every student at the commencement of every new session of the college.

6. If any student shall be received into college after the commencement of a session and before the middle of it, he shall pay the tuition, room rent, library and damage money, accruing on the whole session: if admitted after the middle of the session, he shall pay for the half thereof.

7. To prevent all excuses arising from an ignorance of the laws of this institution, every student shall receive a printed copy of them, for which he shall pay to the treasurer thirty-three cents, to defray the expenses of printing.

CHAPTER XI.

OF STUDY.

1. Every student shall diligently apply himself to such studies as shall be prescribed to him by his teacher, and shall be careful not to be absent from any recitation of his class.

2. Every instructor shall appoint the time and place for the recitations of the class he instructs.

3. When a student is absent from recitation, without the express permission of his instructor, he shall be called to an account for it ; and if he have not a sufficient excuse to justify the absence, he shall be reprimanded by his instructor according to the nature of the offence ; and if such absences become frequent with a student, he shall be reported to the faculty, and by their decision, be subjected to such punishment as may be deemed necessary.

4. The hours of study shall be from the time of morning prayers till eight o'clock, from nine till twelve in the forenoon, and from two till five in the afternoon ; during which time every student shall keep his room, unless called from it to recite, or by some urgent necessity, of which he shall always be ready to give an account to any officer of the college which may observe his absence. It is also required that the students be particularly careful to keep to their rooms after the ringing of the evening bell, unless obliged to leave them by some cause that will obviously justify their absence to the members of the faculty.

5. At the close of each session of the college, every class shall be strictly examined on all the studies of that session, and at the close of each year, on the studies of that year. The faculty may also appoint quarterly examinations of all, or any of the classes, whenever they may judge it expedient. These examinations shall be public, so far as to admit not only the trustees, but all gentlemen of liberal education who may choose to be present, and such other persons as the faculty or trustees may invite.

6. Those who shall appear to the faculty, on examination, to be deficient in their studies, shall be dealt with according to the nature and extent of the deficiency. If the deficiency be great, the party in whom it appears shall be put into a lower class: if it be such as can be remedied by diligence, the faculty may allow the ensuing vacation to make it up, and examine the party at the beginning of the succeeding session. If proofs of negligence appear in any, though it have not been productive of gross deficiency, the faculty may mention before the class, the names of such persons, and administer a reproof to them, and an exhortation to greater diligence in future; those on the contrary, who shall appear to excel, shall be mentioned with approbation. And in awarding all literary honors and distinctions, a regard shall be had to the moral conduct, and orderly behaviour of the candidates for such distinctions.

7. Competitions in the various branches of literature and exercises of the college may be appointed by the faculty, at such times, and subject to such regulations, as they may judge most expedient.

8. The examination for degrees shall be on all the studies of the college course.

CHAPTER XII.

OF PUBLIC SPEAKING.

1. For the improvement of the students in public speaking, two or more orations shall be pronounced every evening immediately after prayers, on the stage in the public hall: or at such other time and place as the faculty may direct. These shall be assigned to the students in rotation, so that all may have the benefit of this exercise; nor shall any student be exempted from it, except on account of natural impediments or other disqualifications, of which the faculty or president may judge.

2. The members of the senior class shall be excused from the above exercises, and in place of them shall each pronounce, at stated times, to be appointed by the faculty, an oration or declamation of their own composition, as the faculty shall appoint.

3. Occasional exercises in public speaking may be assigned at the discretion of the faculty.

4. On the day of commencement the candidates for degrees shall perform such exercises as shall be appointed them, and no candidate shall refuse the exercises assigned him, under penalty of being refused his diploma.

5. Nothing indecent, profane or immoral, shall at any time be delivered on the public stage, under penalty of such censure as the faculty or trustees shall judge proper. And with a view to preserve all the public exercises of the students from impropriety of any kind, every student, during the whole of his senior year, and previously to his commencement performances especially, shall at least two weeks before the delivery, show to the president the whole of what he proposes to speak; and shall not fail to observe such corrections as shall be made of his performances; and if any student pronounce any thing in public of a censurable nature, in contradiction to the directions or corrections of the officer to whom he has shown his piece, the president is required to stop him on the public stage, and he shall be otherwise censured as the trustees or faculty shall determine.

CHAPTER XIII.

OF ORDER IN THE DINING ROOM.

1. At the signal for breakfast, dinner and supper, the students shall go peaceably to the door of the dining room, where they shall wait five minutes, if necessary, for a tutor.

2. The students shall sit at the tables, according to the order which the faculty or tutors shall appoint, and shall behave themselves with decorum, carefully observing all the regulations which the faculty or the tutors shall make for their decent and proper behaviour.

3. Any officer of college attending at the dining table shall have full power to send out of the dining room any student, who shall behave in any respect indecently or improperly.

4. The students shall at all times pay respect to the steward of the college, and they shall not on any occasion infringe on the regulations which, with the approbation of the faculty, he may make for the good order of the servants, or of the dining room and kitchen.

5. If any wilful damage be done to the furniture, or any unnecessary waste of the provisions of the table be made, the faculty shall require the individual, or the mess, by whom the damage was done, or the waste made, to pay double the amount, and also inflict such other censure as they may judge necessary.

6. The steward shall not be obliged to provide any by-meal, except in case of sickness, for any student or students who may not attend at the regular hours of breakfast, dinner or supper.

7. No student shall on any occasion leave the dining table before it be regularly dismissed, except by permission from one of the officers present.

8. No student, who is capable of attending on the exercises of college, shall be permitted to board out of the house, unless it be with his parents or with the president, vice-president, or professors of college.

9. The price of board shall be settled by the trustees, as often as shall be judged necessary.

CHAPTER XIV.

OF DRESS.

1. It is recommended to the students to be plain in their dress, but it is required of them always to appear neat and cleanly ; and if any student shall be grossly negligent in this respect, it shall be the duty of the college officers to admonish him for it, and see that he preserve a decent appearance.

2. Every student shall possess a black gown, which shall be made agreeably to a fashion which the faculty shall prescribe; and all the students shall appear in their gowns, on all such occasions as shall be specified and announced to them by the trustees or faculty of the college.

CHAPTER XV.

OF RELIGIOUS WORSHIP, AND MORAL CONDUCT.

1. Every student shall attend worship in the college hall, morning and evening, at the hours appointed, and shall behave with gravity and reverence, during the whole service.

2. Every student shall attend public worship on the Sabbath, at such times and places as shall be directed, and shall be careful to maintain a reverential deportment. The sanctification of the whole of the Sabbath or Lord's day, is indispensable to every student, and all practices inconsistent therewith are expressly prohibited.

3. No student shall employ any barber or hair-dresser to shave or dress him on the Sabbath, nor shall any such person go into college on that day, for any such purpose.

4. Besides the public exercises of religious worship on the Sabbath, there shall be assigned to each class certain exercises for their religious instruction, suited to the age and standing of the pupils. These exercises shall be assigned by the president, and attended upon by the different officers of college, agreeably to the arrangement which they may make for that purpose, and no student belonging to any class shall neglect them.

5. No student shall visit on the Sabbath, nor shall any who live and board in college, go without the bounds of the college* on that day, unless by express permission of his instructor.

6. Monitors or bill keepers shall be appointed to note down the absentees from the exercises of the college, as often as the faculty or any particular instructor of a class may think proper.

7. No student shall possess or exhibit any indecent picture, nor purchase or read in college any lascivious, impious, or irreligious books, and if any student shall be convicted thereof, or of lying, profaneness, drunkenness, theft, uncleanness, playing at unlawful games, (such as cards, dice, and back-gammon,) or other gross immoralities, or impieties, he shall be punished according to the nature and heinousness of the offence, by admonition, public reprehension, dismissal or expulsion from college.

*By which are meant the front and back yard of the college.

8. If any student shall quarrel with, insult or abuse a fellow student, or any person whatever, he shall, upon conviction, be punished according to the nature of his fault and as the faculty may determine.

9. Any student convicted of sending or receiving a challenge to fight a duel, who shall carry such challenge, or be a second in a duel, or in any wise aid or abet it, shall immediately be dismissed by the faculty, and as soon as practicable expelled by the trustees.

10. No student shall bring, or cause to be brought, into college, or on any occasion keep in his room, any spirituous or fermented liquors, without urgent necessity; nor without an express permission from the teacher of the class to which he belongs.

11. No student shall go to a tavern, eating house, beer house, or any place of such kind, for any purpose whatsoever, without permission from some member of the faculty; and the purpose for which any student shall desire to go to any of these places shall be by him specified to the officer of the college from whom he shall ask permission; and the permission obtained shall be considered as granted for that purpose only: nor shall the time of continuance at such places be greater than that for which permission shall have been given.

12. No student shall on any occasion, keep company with persons of publicly bad character under penalty of admonition, and if the practice be continued, of dismissal or expulsion.

13. It is required of all students to treat all persons with whom they have intercourse, with decency, modesty and respect, but especially to exhibit the most respectful deportment to the officers of the college; and if any student shall disobey any of the lawful commands of teachers, or shall, either in speech or action, manifest disrespect towards any of them, he shall be admonished, ask the forgiveness of the offended party, or be suspended, according to the nature of his offence and the decision of the faculty.

14. If any student shall refuse to appear personally before the president, or any officer of the college, when required so to do, he shall be punished for contempt of authority.

15. Immediate and implicit obedience shall be yielded by every student to the lawful commands of every officer of the institution, under penalty of punishment for contempt of authority.

16. Any student who may be required so to do, shall open the door of his room or study to any officer of the college; and if he refuse, the officer may break it open, and the expense of repairing it shall be defrayed by the student, who shall also be punished for disobedience.

17. If any students remain in the college, or in the town, during the vacation, they shall be subject to all the laws respecting decent or orderly conduct, and shall be under the control of the officers of the college who may remain there during the vacation.

CHAPTER XVI.

OF RESIDENT GRADUATES.

1. Resident graduates shall have the free and full use of the college library, by paying one dollar per session for the same; subject, however, to all the laws relative to the library, as contained in chapter 10.

2. They may attend the recitations of any class in the college; and may, if they choose and are called to it by the teacher of the class, recite with the class, on any particular branch of study.

3. They may diet in the refectory, at the same price, and subject to the same rules, as the under graduates.

4. They may receive instruction, direction or assistance, privately, from any officer of the college who may be willing to give it—for which they shall make such compensation as shall be agreed on between them and such officer.

5. They shall not visit the rooms of the students in study hours, nor after the ringing of the evening bell, without express permission from some of the faculty.

6. They shall be expected to treat all the officers and institutions of the college with respect, and to encourage diligence, order and obedience, among the students.

7. If any resident graduate shall be judged by the faculty to act in a manner injurious to the college, he shall be so informed by a note ; and shall thenceforward cease to possess the privileges assured to him by these laws.

8. Graduates intending to reside for improvement at the college, shall signify to the faculty distinctly that such is their intention ; and also that they will hold themselves bound to conform to all the provisions of the statutes contained in this chapter.

CHAPTER XVII.

MISCELLANEOUS REGULATIONS.

1. No shouting, loud talking, whistling, jumping, dancing, or any other boisterous noise, shall be permitted in the entries or rooms of the college at any time, under such penalty as the nature of the offence shall be judged by the faculty to deserve.

2. No student shall be allowed to disguise himself by wearing women's apparel, or in any other way whatever, under penalty of such censure as the faculty may see cause to inflict.

3. No student shall be allowed to disturb, or attempt any imposition on his fellow students, in any manner whatever ; and every student shall be required to preserve order and decorum in his own room, and shall be responsible for all disorder therein, unless he give information, when in his power, of the person or persons from whom it proceeded.

4. No student, after the examination for degrees, shall leave college before the day of commencement, without express permission from the authority of the college.

5. If any clubs or combinations of the students shall at any time take place, either for resisting the authority of the college, interfering in its government, or for concealing or executing any evil or disorderly design, every student concerned in such combination shall be considered as guilty of the offence which was intended : and the faculty are empowered and directed to break up all such combinations as soon as discovered, and to inflict a severer punishment on each individual than if the offence intended had been committed in his individual capacity; whatever be the number concerned, or whatever be the consequence to the college.

5. No meeting of the students of the college shall be called without the permission of the president or in his absence of the next senior officer; and no meeting of a class shall be called without the permission of the instructor of the class—and in both cases the request shall be in writing specifying the object of the meeting; and signed by the persons making the request; who shall be responsible for the good order and doings of the class, or of all the classes, at such meeting.

7. As it may sometimes happen, that a student may become an unworthy, corrupting, and dangerous member of the institution, and yet it may not be practicable to establish his criminality by formal and specified proof: it shall, in such cases, be the duty of the faculty, first to warn and admonish the party thus circumstanced, and if reformation do not take place, then; unless the urgency of the case shall forbid the measure, the parent or guardian of the party shall be written to and requested to remove him, and if he shall not be removed without unnecessary delay, it shall be the duty of the faculty to remove him, in such manner as they shall judge that equity and the good of the institution require.

8. No student suspended, dismissed or expelled from college shall be permitted to enter the edifice, or come on the college grounds without express permission from the president; nor shall the other students of the college be permitted to visit or keep company with a suspended, dismissed or expelled student; without the president's permission.

9. No servant shall be employed in the college, except such as shall be engaged by the steward, at a stipulated salary, with the concurrence of the faculty; the duty of the servants within the college shall be pointed out solely by the faculty. And if any servant shall be found to violate any of the laws of the institution, or to neglect any of his appointed duties, he shall be immediately dismissed.

10. No woman shall be permitted on any pretence to go into the college except on days of public speaking; and excepting also strangers who wish to see the college, or citizens of the neighborhood, accompanied by an officer of the college, or some person appointed by him.

11. No student shall keep for his use or pleasure any horse or riding beast; nor shall any student keep a dog, or gun, or fire-arms and ammunition of any kind, nor any sword, dirk, sword-cane, or any deadly weapon whatever.

12. If any student or students, shall steal, destroy, or trespass on the property of any person in the town or elsewhere; the authority of the college shall inflict an exemplary punishment on him or them; and any combination to prevent the execution of the civil laws shall be severely punished.

13. No student shall hire any horse or carriage from any person whatever, for the purpose of amusement, exercise, or business, without explicit permission from some officer of the college. Nor shall a student, without permission, go to a greater distance than two miles from the college, at any time whatever, during the continuance of the session.

14. The students are subject to all the laws of the college; after the classes to which they belong are dismissed at the close of each session, till they take their departure from the town: And if any student after his class is dismissed shall go to a tavern without permission, or receive any entertainment or do any act whatsoever prohibited by the laws of the college, he shall be considered as committing the same offence and incurring the same penalty, as if he had done the same act before the dismissal of his class.

15. Whereas cases may arise not expressly provided for, the faculty are fully authorised to adopt such additional regulations, not inconsistent with the preceding laws, as in their opinion are necessary for the good order of the institution: and these regulations, when announced, shall be as promptly obeyed as the printed laws.

16. In every certificate of dismission from college, the reasons of dismission shall be specified, and the student's standing as a scholar particularly mentioned.

17. A student dismissed from college, for whatever cause, shall have refunded to him the whole which he has advanced for board, from the time of his dismission.
